Product strategy, brand and experience. Currently CMO at Keplera.

Complex products need clearer experiences.

See selected work | Read my thinking

I help product teams clarify what they are building, how it should work and why people should trust it.

ludwig.guru CHANEL MEC RedBull BURBERRY LOUIS VUITTON MaxMara ZOE ACHEVAL BANG PRIX ARTBIZTECH

Selected Thinking

Most products don't need to look smarter.
They need to feel less confusing.

I write about product clarity, AI, trust, aftercare and the unnecessary complexity companies build around otherwise simple things.

View all writing

The product is premium. But the aftercare is not. →

16 July

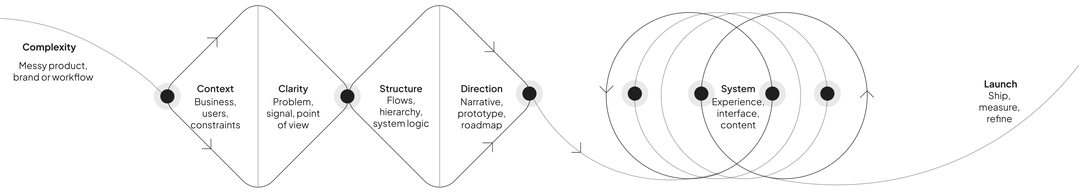

Exploring the dissonance between high-end physical products and their neglected digital aftercare experiences.

Most products don't need more features. They need less confusion. 13 July

The hidden cost of making users figure it out 12 July

How I Work

The work moves from uncertainty to a clear point of view, then into a system teams can build, launch and improve.

Selected Work

Ideas matter when they change what gets built.

LexHero 2026

An AI workspace for creating, reviewing and managing legal documents.

I led product direction, experience design and communication, turning fragmented legal workflows into a clearer and more trustworthy AI workspace.

View case study →

Afterbox 2026

Concoro 2025

Ludwig.guru 2024

Work with me

I work with teams that need clearer product direction, stronger positioning and a digital experience people can understand and trust.

Email LinkedIn